Bay-Wave Task Force arrests one for crack

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Publisher Emeritus

The Bay-Waveland Narcotics Task Force arrested a Bay St. Louis resident and charged him with alleged possession of crack cocaine on April 18, according to directors Bay Chief Frank McNeal and Waveland Chief Jimmy Varnell.

Bay St. Louis Officer Randall Darty observed several subjects loitering on Housing Authority property near the intersection of Washington and St. Francis Streets around 12 a.m. on April 18, the directors news release said.

McNeal and Varnell continued. "As Officer Darty attempted to speak to the crowd one subject attempted to flee on foot. John Galloway, 37, Washington Street, was apprehended and charged with possession of crack cocaine, disorderly conduct, and resisting arrest by flight."

"In his attempt to flee, with assistance from back-up officers arriving, Galloway was observed throwing items out of his pocket while fleeing. Officers were able to recover several alleged crack cocaine rocks in the immediate area where he was taken into custody," McNeal and Varnell reported.

Galloway was transported to the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility and placed on a $22,000 bond.

Additionally, Galloway is facing enhanced charges due to being arrested on Housing Authority Property near a public park and previous felony convictions, McNeal and Varnell said.

Agent Jim Martin is handling the investigation. Galloway had a preliminary court day on April 20, in Bay

Municipal Court.

Any tips or complaints concerning illegal narcotics, please contact the Bay-Waveland Narcotics Task Force at 467-5683.

Hancock Library is high tech

Hancock County's Library System continues to ride high in today's world of technology.

On Thursday, the Library System unveiled its new web site, www.hancocklibraries.info, giving an opportunity of gathering information from their home, office or school computer 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The new web site includes the library's highly graphical interactive catalog, special links for active seniors, teens and kids, outdoor recreation, and just so many things.

One can access their library account, renew items, place items on hold, check the best sellers, and on and on.

"Here's your chance to check it out!" give it a try at www.hancocklibraries.info.

In preparation for the upcoming shrimping, fishing and oystering seasons, the Pass Christian 29th annual Blessing of the Fleet will be held today at noon.

The Blessing of the Fleet is a tradition going way back in the history of the coast's seamen who traverse the waters to make a living.

If you are new to the area, this is one event you do not want to miss. The Pass Christian Harbor offers a great setting for such an event and there are so many very good viewing areas.

Boat owners go all out in decorating their craft as cash awards are given to the winners of several categories.

Even the owners of Pleasure vessels get into the act too, as there is a division for them too.

Congratulations are in order for the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club upon being named the 2004 US Sailing One-Design Club of the Year.

The One-Design Club Award was accepted by Commander Michael Haas, Jr., Walter Chamberlain, Cherie Dillard and Clinton Edwards at the Goat Island Hyatt Regency in Newport, Rhode Island.

In the 100 years plus of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, the group have been receiving awards and winning all types of sailing events.

Bay-Waveland is very active in teaching young sailors and has produced some of the tops in the country over the years.

The One-Design Club of the Year award is in recognition of administrative excellence, fleet growth, creative programming, regatta support, member contribution, at regional, national and international levels.

So, one can see that our area has a very active over-all yacht club.

Congratulations to Commodore Haas and all members of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Barbour's wrong on school funding

Response to column entitled "Education Funding in Mississippi is Going Up, Not Down"

FROM THE MS BOARD OF EDUCATION

"...Some people say that if you favor giving our public schools a 4% increase in funding.... you are against public education."

The Governor touts that his proposed K-12 budget is a 4% increase over the current year's allocation for schools. While the Governor's budget would give school districts $69 million over their current year's funding, it does not cover the $94.5 million needed for the state-mandated teacher pay raise or the additional $29.7 million in the increased costs of health insurance and the employer's share of retirement contributions, which are state mandates if enacted in law this year. The increase in salaries and benefits totals $124.2 million. If those costs are incurred, school districts would have to absorb $55 million in state mandates above the current year's funding level. Last year school districts had to absorb $45 million in state-mandated costs, meaning that school districts would be absorbing $100 million in state mandates in two years.

IN SUMMARY

Governor's proposed 4% increase = $69 Million over current year's funding level

Cost to implement 5th year of 5-year Teacher Salary Increase (school district portion) = $94.5 Million

Increased cost of additional health insurance and retirement benefits = $29.7 Million

Total additional cost for FY 05-06 = $124.2 Million

Amount absorbed by local school districts for state mandates in FY 04-05 = $45 Million

Amount school districts would absorb in FY 05-06 under Governor's plan = $55 Million

Total of state-mandated costs absorbed by districts over 2-year period = $100 Million

Additionally, this school year, schools received 4.28%, or $79.3 million, less than what was mandated under the Mississippi

Adequate Education Program (MAEP)—the funding formula in state law. Under the Governor's proposed budget, the MAEP formula would be underfunded by $175 million. That would be a total level of underfunding of the MAEP formula of $254 million in two years. MAEP is what current law calls for, not some fabricated figures by the State Board.

"Education spending in Mississippi has risen nearly 50% in the last five years."

Obviously education spending has risen over the past several years. The MAEP was designed to do just that, provide additional resources to school districts, based on adequacy and equity. Based on appropriations over the past five years (from 2001-2005) for

Lack of a state budget is cause for concern

Dear Editor,
For the first time in anyone's memory, the Legislature adjourned its regular session without adopting a budget for state government. The public has a right to be upset and mystified that we will have to come back in a special session to settle the issue. As Chairman of the House Education Committee, I worked closely with House Appropriations Chairman Johnny Stringer in the budget negotiations. My purpose in this article is to explain what happened.

In years past, the Legislature has been able to approve a budget either because we had enough new revenue coming into the treasury or we were able to pass new taxes or raise fees for government services. The House and the Senate worked together to insure that the budget was adopted on a timely basis. This year, however, there is not enough new revenue available to adequately fund the state's budget and the Governor and the Republican leadership in the Senate made clear that increases in taxes or fees would not be considered under any scenario, even after the House passed a tobacco increase and a bill raising fees. The only option left is to cut the budget—drastically—and the House is willing to do so.

After the revenue bills were killed by the Senate, the House adopted the position that we wanted to fully fund education and make deep cuts in the remainder of state government in order to make up the difference and balance the budget. Over the last four years the total education budget has increased substantially, but the increases have gone to increased teacher pay and not to the basic school support budgets. The state allocation to utilities, repairs, transportation (including the ever-increasing cost of gasoline), textbooks and other basic school needs have actually been cut. Despite that history, the Senate was unwilling to prioritize K-12 education. The picture became more complicated in the closing weeks of the Session when it became clear that the Senate was unwilling to impose substantial cuts on any state agency. The Senate's solution was to deliberately under fund the budgets for Corrections, Medicaid and Debt Service in order to free up enough money to fund the other state agencies. In other words, the Senate proposed telling the head of the Corrections Department and the head of Medicaid to spend whatever they needed to spend and the Legislature would get them the rest of their money in January 2006, when the next regular session con-

Schools -- Barbour's wrong

Minimum Program/MAEP, school district funding increased from $1,362,528,319 to $1,773,075,721, or 30%, not 50%. Over the past 6 years (from 2000-2005) the appropriated level increased from $1,306,333,409 to $1,773,075,721, or 36%. The Governor's claim of a 50% increase over the past five years is simply not true, as the appropriated levels clearly show. In addition, if the cost of the teacher pay and health insurance increases are deducted, the net increase in K-12 spending is only 5.3% over the past five years.

"Local school districts actually have almost $250 million in their reserve accounts this year."

In the past two years, school district end-of-fiscal year fund balances in June have now become the reason not to fund MAEP. There is a wide range of difference in resources available to school districts in Mississippi. As good business practice, school districts set aside reserve funds for emergencies, capital improvements and other operational needs. School districts also rely on these reserves between the beginning of the fiscal year in July and when districts receive tax receipts in January. The end of December would be a better snapshot of actual 'reserve' funds available to school districts. One fact is clear: if the state continues to pass unfunded mandates to the local communities, the reserves will be depleted. How will the state support the schools when all reserves are depleted?

"The State Department of Education is asking for a 15% increase in funding over last year."

The State Board of Education is required by law to present a budget to the Legislature, based on the MAEP formula. It's the law, not the State Department of Education. That point needs to be made crystal clear. If the Governor does not like the level of funding for school districts, his issues should be directed at the law, not the State Department of Education. The Department does not establish laws and is only doing what the law directs it to do. A significant portion of the increase is due to underfunding in previous years and the costs associated with the teacher pay increase.

A breakdown of the FY06 K-12 Budget as Submitted to the Legislative Budget Office:

$ 147,033,346 Replacement of One-time Money:
 $110,000,000 Budget Contingency Funds
 $ 20,000,000 Redirected Public School Building Funds
 $ 15,900,000 Redirected

Teacher Supply Funds $ 1,133,346 Redirected
 Tech Prep Bond Funds $ 79,253,929 MAEP
 Under Funding for FY05 $ 97,542,925 Estimated Cost of FY06 8% Teacher Pay Raise ($94.5 Million for School Districts)

$ 28,378,120 Expected Increase in Special Ed, Gifted, and Vocational Teacher Units.

Extended School Year, Orthopedic/Phasic, High Growth Formula $ 11,141,876 Expected

Increase for National Board Certification, Chickasaw School Fund, Educable Child, State Schools, state agency assessments, school attendance officers $ 12,616,244 MAEP

Formula growth $ 3,977,958 Only portion of budget that is discretionary; (for Vocational Upgrades, additional teachers, program support, FFA center operations)

$379,944,298 GRAND TOTAL

"My budget fully funds next year's teacher pay raise, doubles the funding for classroom supplies, funds textbooks for the first time in years and increases classroom funding by 8.3% and total education funding by 4% compared to this year."

The Governor's budget increases funding for next year by $69 million above the current year's funding level. However, the teacher pay increase plus the associated benefit increase for insurance and retirement will cost $124 million. The net decrease in actual funding for schools from FY05 to FY06 would be $55 million.

In the current school year, all but approximately $3.5 million of the approximately $20 million in classroom supply funds were diverted to MAEP on a one-time basis. The Governor's FY06 budget recommendation provides $7 million for classroom supplies, which doubles the current year's reduced amount. However, the law fully restores the approximately $22 million for classroom supplies projected for fiscal year 2006. Therefore, the Governor's FY06 budget recommendation actually reduces the teachers' classroom supply funds by $15 million.

Textbooks are funded through MAEP, which replaced the previous method of allocating funds for textbooks through Education Enhancement Funds. Textbooks are funded through the MAEP base student cost formula.

"While K-12 spending has risen nearly 50% with no increase in students, Mississippi universities and community colleges have seen their funding slashed over the last five years."

First, K-12 spending has not risen 50% in the past five years, see above. The State Board of Education believes that all three educational entities in the state—K-12, community colleges and universities—must work together for the educational system to succeed and for Mississippi to prosper. It is wrong to characterize the adequate funding of K-12 education as being counter to the mission of higher education. The State Board of Education fully supports adequate funding for community colleges and universities.

The Mississippi Adequate Education Program is based on actual dollars spent by schools in Mississippi and is designed to establish adequacy and equity in funding for schools. Mississippi is one of the poorest states in the nation and ranks 49th in per-pupil expenditures on K-12 education. Again, the current law establishes the level of funding for K-12. We can make any number of comparisons to support or not support increased funding for K-12 education. It all comes down to what the priorities will be for the state and the ability and public desire to pay for it.

"What disappoints me are threats to fire teachers, increase class sizes or raise local taxes if certain demands are not met. All were threatened last year and none of them materialized."

All districts are required by law to provide a notice of nonrenewal to certified staff by April 15, if they cannot employ those individuals the next school year. Without a firm budget, districts must make their best projections. No successful business would assume financial obligations without knowing they have resources to meet those obligations.

Last year, the Department of Education was requested to provide information on the impact of school district staffing based on the underfunding at the Legislative Budget Office (LBO) level. This was never intended as a "scare tactic." It was a prediction of what could have happened if funded at the LBO level. Most school districts were able to work within the budget that was eventually passed and not lay off teachers.

Overall, schools employed more than 400 teachers this year than last, though most of the increased number in teachers were in the high growth districts.

"...we need to have an open and honest dialogue about what that funding level should be and how we can use that funding to best educate Mississippi schoolchildren."

The State Board has supported 2005 legislation to study the Mississippi Adequate Education Program. While the Board believes it is a good formula, the Board welcomes the discussion.

However, until there is a new formula, MAEP is the funding mechanism for K-12. In addition, a study of the formula is certainly the way to accomplish this. It is important that accurate information is provided to all Mississippians.

Kiln to celebrate Nat'l Day of Prayer

Local organizers are inviting county residents to unite on May 5 on the front porch at Kiln Library for the National Day of Prayer Rally. The one-hour event will begin at noon with special music by local artists at the Hwy. 43 Library. For those who may have time limitations, box lunches will be available.

"I can't imagine a time when we have been in greater need to publicly demonstrate our desire to pray," said Mike Wells, Chairman of the North Hancock County National Day of Prayer Event. "With our Nation at war wrestling enemies both abroad and at home, the attack upon our homes and families, and the rising moral decay, there is a sense of desperation and uncertainty. In the midst of these tumultuous events, it is important that we stand together on the common ground of faith, asking God for His providence and blessings."

Wells said the event will be a time of unified prayer. Local pastors and officials from many denominations and community leaders will lead in prayers for our community, our nation, and our world. The event will end at 1 p.m. with the reciting of the national prayer, which will be read at more than 30,000 events across the USA.

The National Day of Prayer tradition dates back to 1776 and became a yearly event when President Harry S. Truman signed a joint resolution by Congress in 1952 declaring the celebration. President Ronald Reagan amended the Truman resolution in 1988 by designating the first Thursday in May as the annual National Day of Prayer.

Bay makes first round tourney finals with 3-2 win

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Bay High Tigers (15-12) advanced to the finals of the first round mini-tournament in the Class 4A state baseball playoffs held at the Fred Weems Athletic Complex on Friday night.

The Tigers defeated a pesky bunch of Rebels from George County 3-2 with a combination of solid defensive play, solid pitching by Kyle Sick and timely hitting.

Bay High fell behind George County 1-0 in the top of third inning when David Creel reached base on a single. He advanced on a wild pitch before Brent Tanner singled Creel home for the game's first run.

The Tigers answered in the bottom of the third inning when David Buckley hit a solo shot over the centerfield wall to tie the game at 1-1.

The Tigers got two more hits in the third from Sick and Brad Ladner but the runners were left stranded.

The fourth inning was quiet by both teams; however, the fifth inning proved to be the offensive difference for Bay High as they tallied two more runs.

Buckley led the inning off with a double to leftfield followed by Trevor Adam getting hit by a pitch. Sick hit a sacrifice fly to centerfield to advance the runners. Brad Ladner singled home Buckley and Cory Jordan drove in Adam on an error by the first baseman.

In the top of the seventh inning, Creel singled to rightfield to start the inning. Co-Eric Riley and Jerron Casey were put out by the Tigers. Wendell Fairley reached base after being hit by a pitch. Tanner singled home Creel with two outs to make the score 3-2.

Cory Jordan got Melton Tilley to hit into a force out to end the game and give Bay High the win 3-2.

Bay High head coach Mike Weems stated, "I am extremely proud of how these guys battled back today. It was hot on the field and both teams played well. Kyle Sick pitched a great game after not getting in a groove on the mound during the regular season. Coach Luke Weems told him to not give up and not get frustrated. He did both on the mound. Cory Jordan comes in and gets the final five outs for us after having pitched a full game earlier in the day. We hit the ball when we had to tonight and the defense played tough. I can't say enough good things about these players."

Bay High's catcher Brad Ladner (22) slides home safely Friday against East Central Hornets. Bay High lost in the semi final round to the Hornets 2-1.

Kyle Sick pitched 5 and one-third innings and held George County to just one run before Jordan got the winning run duty. David Buckley and Brad Ladner had multiple hits in the game for Bay High.

The Tigers were forced to play in the final game on Friday after falling to East Central in another tight game 2-1.

The Hornets scored one run twice in the game against Bay High. In the third inning, Will Foster led the inning off with a walk.

The Tigers forced the Hornets into a double-play on the next batter.

Justin Owenby hit a two-out single back up the middle and then stole second base to get into scoring position. He took third base on a throwing error. Jake McNeese singled home Owenby for the game's first run.

Home plate remained untouched until the top of the seventh inning when Reid Whittington hit a solo homerun to give East Central a 2-0 lead.

However, Bay High battled back in the bottom of the seventh with their backs against the wall. Brad Ladner led the inning off with double off the wall.

Cory Jordan drove Ladner in with an error on the second baseman to make the score 2-1.

With no outs and Jordan sitting at second base, the Tigers were unable to bring him around as the game ended with a 2-1 East Central win.

Weems continued, "We were down 1-0 most of the game. They got another quick run in the top of the seventh with a solo homerun. JR Ballinger pitched a very good game for them. It was a dominant 3-hit effort.

We got a run in the bottom of the seventh; however, we left too many runners stranded throughout the game and missed some scoring opportunities."

Ballinger went the distance for the Hornets in the win allowing only three hits for Bay High and fanning six batters. Cory Jordan went the distance and had a solid effort on the mound for Bay High striking out six batters and allowing only six hits.

The Tigers won their opening game in the first round tournament 12-10 on Friday night in a slugfest with Pearl River Central.

There were 27 hits in the game between both teams. Bay High had 15 while PRC tallied 12.

Derek Tortorich put the Blue Devils on the board in the top of the first inning when he connected for a 2-run double.

The Tigers answered the challenge in the bottom of the inning as they sent 12 batters to the plate and scored eight runs.

David Buckley led the game off with a walk followed by a Trevor Adam walk. Buckley later scored on a throwing error. Kyle Sick loaded the bases with his single. Brad Ladner drove in a run with a single to rightfield for a 3-2 lead. Cory Jordan drew a walk to reach base.

Colby Adam hit an RBI double that made the score 5-2. Chris Billingsley reached base on an error followed by a Zach Thompson walk.

Buckley came up to bat for the second time in the inning and drove in two runs for a 7-2 lead. Trevor Adam singled home a run to give the Tigers' their 8-2 lead.

It seemed as though Bay High was about to blow PRC out of the park only to see the Blue Devils answer with four runs of their own in the top of the second.

PRC got all four of their runs with two outs. Derek Tortorich hit a two-run double to highlight the inning for PRC.

In the bottom of the third inning, Bay High added two more runs to go up 10-6. Thompson and Brad Ladner each reached base on walks while Jordan advanced after being hit by a pitch. Buckley singled to centerfield while Trevor Adam beat out an infield hit. Ladner and Jordan were credited with RBIs in the inning.

In the fourth inning, PRC pulled to within 10-9 following a two-run inside the park homerun by Johnathan Trahan. Tortorich singled and Trahan hit a shot to the left field wall. Steven Thebeau collided with the wall trying to make the play.

However, the collision did not seem to bother Thebeau as he led off the fourth inning for Bay High with a triple. He scored to make the tally 11-9 when Chris Billingsley grounded out to second base.

The Tigers added their final run of the game in the bottom of the fifth inning as Kyle Sick led the inning off with a double. Brad Ladner drove him in with a single.

Weems stated, "Everyone had a hit tonight. We hit the ball well and so did PRC. I am very proud of Trevor Adam as he hung in there and battled on the mound for us tonight. We knew PRC would be tough at the plate."

The Tigers advanced to play East Central at 3pm on Saturday, April 23rd. The Tigers had to defeat the Hornets twice to advance to the second round of the state playoffs. Full scoring details will be available in Thursday's edition of the newspaper.

Tran wins gold at state powerlifting meet

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

Chris Tran became St. Stanislaus' first medalist in powerlifting at the state meet last when he won the bronze medal. He improved on that performance during his junior campaign. On Friday, April 8th Tran lifted a total of 740 pounds to become the Rocks' first gold medalist at the state powerlifting championships.

During the meet, Tran successfully lifted 240 pounds on squat, 160 pounds on bench press and 340 pounds on the deadlift to win the state title in the 114-lb division. On the deadlift apparatus, Tran attempted a state record 390 pounds on his third lift but was unable to lock out the weight.

Teammate J.C. Brignone competed in the 308-lb division and placed fifth overall in the state with a combined total of 1,265 pounds. He lifted 460 pounds on squat, 315 pounds on bench press and 490 pounds on deadlift.

As a team, the Rocks finished in a tie for sixth place with Quitman with 11 points. Pearl won the Class 4A team title with 50 points followed by Kosciusko 43, South Pike 34, Ridgeland 13 and Mendenhall with 12 points.

SSC head powerlifting coach Casey Wittmann stated, "We had a very successful season this year. This is as high as we have finished in the four-year history of the program and we have all but one lifter returning next year. So, we will be looking for big things come next season."

The Rocks qualified four lifters for the state championship meet, after placing fourth out of 15 teams at the South State championships on March 23rd. However, the other two lifters had other spring sport conflicts and could not attend.

Colin Miller of Hancock competed in the Class 5A super heavyweight division at the state meet finishing fourth overall. The 348-lb Miller successfully lifted 450 pounds on squat, 315 pounds on bench press and 495 pounds on deadlift to finish with a total of 1,260 pounds.

the original boat. Investors purchased the casino barge from the President Casino and will operate the facility in Biloxi until moving it to Bayou Caddy in January or February.

With all the changes, says building official Mickey Lagasse, the planning office will need to see a detailed revision of the new site plan before the project can move forward.

The new plan will include the addition of recently approved permanent mooring for water side, casino structures. Permanent mooring will make the structures more secure during hurricanes. The site plan also includes 500 parking spaces with enclosed parking and indoor access to the casino. The project is fully funded and ready to go, Ferrucci said. A hotel for the site is still in the works, he said.

In other business: Supervisors put off a decision on the new C-4 District approved by County Planning and Zoning Commissioners last week to take a closer look at the issue, they said. "I think it is safe to say that we are all for what is going on down there," said District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman. "This is an important point in what is major growth in this county and we want to have our ducks in a row and make sure that we are educated as to what is in the best interest of the county." A decision could possibly be made at the May 2 meeting.

Lindmark Advertising will be permitted to install six billboards on Hwy. 90 and Hwy. 603. Supervisors voted to send the matter back to the Planning and Zoning Commission for correction, with instructions to issue the permits. The company was denied permits allowing the billboards because of a moratorium on such structures in the county. But Lindmark attorney Andy McDonald told supervisors that the company had applied for permits before the moratorium.

Misinformation from Lagasse caused a delay in the process, McDonald said, and cost his clients a potential $1.5 million in income when permits were denied. Residents of Clermont Harbor reiterated concerns about a large development district proposed at the foot of their community. Millie Usher said she had heard a proposal to abandon Beach Blvd. from Lakeshore Rd. to Bayou Caddy and another that would abandon the road from Poinsett to Bayou Caddy. Ina Day said she was concerned that no court reporter was present to make a record of a recent public hearing on proposed zoning changes. When records were lost last month from another public hearing held on a casino/hotel project supervisors told Lagasse that a court reporter must be present at all public hearings. Lagasse said he hadn't signed a contract agreement with a court reporter before the hearing last week and that attorney John Scaffidi had taken minutes of the meeting.

Contractors report that the beach renourishment project is about 40 percent complete.

Supervisors issued an order to remove a private gate from Colly Rd.

Supervisors upheld a moratorium on mobile homes in Quail Ridge phase 1 and all phases of Mallard Point. Original covenants prohibit mobile homes in those areas, they said.

Supervisors advised Lagasse that approval of any more site plans for Turtle Landing in Pearlinton should be dependent on an agreement to limit noise from the establishment.

Supervisors approved the release of recreation funds to Waveland.

Members of the Pearlinton Citizens Committee appeared to complain about the record keeping of the Pearlinton Sewer Board, the layout of the collection system, and to ask about a replacement for a seat vacated on the board. They also requested answers to several questions they said were submitted to supervisors several weeks ago. Attorney Ronnie Artigues said concerns of wrong doing should be referred to the Attorney General's office. Pullman said he could not appoint Linda Shaw, the committee's choice, to the board because she had stated she was against the installation of sewer services. Consultant Janelle Thompkins made a copy of questions and the board said they would answer any that they could. They also agreed to hold a workshop with the Pearlinton board.

marina would be an upscale development "catering" to affluent boat owners, with many of clientele coming from Louisiana and other locations. Slips would be built to accommodate larger vessels ranging from 35 feet to 75 feet, Ovanki said.

The $6 million project would take between 25 and 30 years to pay for itself if the 175 slips could be filled year round, Ovanki said. Local residents expressed mixed feelings on the proposal. Many were concerned with noise, traffic and safety during a hurricane.

In other business: Two major projects will go out for bid next week, said Digital engineer Bruce Newton on Wednesday.

A $750,000 project to revamp Old Spanish Trail from Hwy. 90 to the Waveland city limits will add sidewalks on the north side of the street; mill and resurface the existing roadway, and add new cross drains under OST and Gladstone. Handicapped ramps will also be added. The project should take about four months, Newton said, with minimal road closings.

A $520,000 project to install lighting along Hwy. 90 and Hwy. 603 within the city limits will also be out to bid. Lighting along Hwy. 90 will be double arm poles placed down the highway median. Along Hwy. 603 light poles will be placed along each side of the road. The poles will include hooks to hang flags and holiday decor as well as outlets for Christmas or other lighting.

Another project to add and improve sewer lines west of Waveland Ave.

should be ready for bid next month, Newton said. The revamp of Coleman Ave. will not begin until after Cruisin' the Coast. That project will take about 9 months.

Aldermen discussed options for dog owners who want to bring their pets to city parks. Several complaints have been lodged when pet owners have locked park gates to let their dogs run free at ball fields. Aldermen passed an ordinance earlier this month requiring dog owners to clean up after their pets in public places. The city already has a leash law in place. Not allowing dogs in the parks was one option that Ward 4 Alderman Santo Saucier suggested, but later rescinded his motion. Discussions will continue on the subject.

venes. In the case of debt service, at one point the Senate proposed shorting the necessary funds by more than $100 million, a tactic that could tell the state's bond holders that we do not intend to pay. Never once did the Senate identify a source for the additional funding we would need in January, referring only generally to hoped for growth. That is like paying your house note with a credit card, and is called deficit financing. The House refused to engage in this sleight of hand.

The other approach offered by the Senate was to mandate the teacher pay raise but provide the school districts only a portion of the funds to cover the cost. That approach would leave local school districts with no alternative but to raise local taxes to make up the difference. The House refused to pass the buck on this issue as well.

With the Senate unwilling to make the necessary cuts and with the House unwilling to engage in deficit financing, the negotiations broke down. And that's where we now stand.

We are moving in uncharted territory so I am afraid I have no predictions to make. I can say with a certain amount of confidence that the House is willing to cut, and cut deep into state government, but we are not willing to threaten the integrity of our education system and put at risk the future of more than 500,000 Mississippi children who have no voice in this debate.

Cuevas declined comment, saying charges against Dawsey are still pending in circuit court.

Dawsey's attorney, Donald Rafferty said he and his client were happy with the trial's outcome—even though Dawsey may still face trial in circuit court for the same charges.

"We're extremely ecstatic, and couldn't be more happy, other than the bitter-sweet situation that we had to defend ourselves from,"

Rafferty said. "Dawsey felt he was innocent from the beginning."

The trial was classified as a federal matter because the act of arson against Cuevas' store was considered a disruption of interstate commerce. A truck stolen from Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt's driveway and stripped of its weapons and radio was also driven across state lines.

Rafferty said he was prepared to vigorously defend Dawsey if the state should try and prosecute him in circuit court.

"We are in ongoing discussions with the district attorney's office about the resolution of the charges," he said. "It's our position that it should be over with, but it's unclear whether the state will follow through. If they have other people, they want to charge, it might be in their best interest."

Momentum Mississippi leaders will tour to tout proposed economic plan

BY EMILY WAGSTER

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Business leaders are planning a statewide tour to tout the Momentum Mississippi package that's likely to be considered during a special legislative session.

The package would update the state's economic-development incentives to try to attract more high-tech jobs. It died during the regular session that ended April 6.

"I've said publicly that Momentum Mississippi is something I think is very important, that we're running out of money in our economic development program because of this not being taken up," Gov. Haley Barbour said this week.

Barbour is expected to call lawmakers into special session next month so they can try to pass a budget and consider other proposals that failed during the regular session.

The Momentum Mississippi package would give tax breaks to existing companies for expansions and extend to high-tech companies many of the incentives and breaks that manufacturers already receive. During the regular session, lawmakers considered authorizing between $22 million and $50 million in bonds to finance the package.

Anthony Topazi, president and chief executive officer of Mississippi Power Co., is chairman of the Momentum Mississippi group appointed by the governor.

Momentum Mississippi isn't just designed to improve our incentives for attracting new industry, the legislation is specifically targeted to help existing industry make significant investments in new process equipment to improve productivity and keep jobs in our state," Topazi wrote Wednesday in a letter announcing the statewide tour.

Meetings to promote the Momentum package are set for April 25 in Columbus and Meridian, April 26 in Biloxi and Hattiesburg, April 28 in Tupelo and Greenville, April 29 in Natchez and May 9 in Jackson.

Rep. George Flaggs, D-Vicksburg, said Barbour, like other governors before him, should have the chance to shape the state's economic-development policies and incentives.

"I can support

Momentum, not because it's the governor's idea, but because it's good for Mississippi," Flaggs said Wednesday. "I believe we ought to give him the authority to do what he wants to do in Momentum without giving up legislative oversight."

Golf tournament to benefit Boys and Girls Club

The Pass Christian Unit of the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast will host its 6th Annual Pass Christian Unit Golf Tournament at Pass Christian Golf Club on May 6. Lunch will be served at noon with play set to begin at 1 p.m. and is open to anyone interested. Cost is $100 per player.

This year we are bringing back our Golf Ball Drop! Golf Balls will be sold for $25 each or five for $100. Each ball purchased will be assigned a number, and the numbered golf balls will be dropped from a helicopter onto the practice green at Pass Christian Golf Club.

The Golf Ball Drop is basically a split the pot. Half of the money raised will go directly to the Pass Christian Unit of the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast.

BSL Fire Department hosts Mississippi Fire Academy Haz-Mat Class

Firemen from Bay Saint Louis and Long Beach fire departments are attending a three-day class on hazardous material handling for first responders with instruction from Matt Bailey of the Mississippi Fire Academy. Ten local fire-fighters are attending the classes being held this week.

"Handling hazardous material is very serious business for first responders from any safety agency. It is imperative that we have more than adequate training when we live in an area with thousands of gallons of chemicals and gases being transported through here each week, and the train tracks are located in the center of every community," said Fire and Life Safety Officer Louis Prendergast, organizer of the event for local fire units.

Matt Bailey, a certified academy instructor, is conducting the class. Attending from Bay Saint Louis are firemen Steven Parker, Keith Edwards, Justin Caswell, and Jason Afshar.

This training will help the first responders to recognize, identify, and isolate a hazardous product release. Other local fire-fighters with more experience are trained to the technician level which can contain any hazardous product release.

"We appreciate this opportunity to have the Mississippi Fire Academy choose Bay Saint Louis for a training site and look forward to more training on site rather than having to send our firemen to Pearl for all advanced classes," said Chief Robert Gavagnie.

Strain said drivers should renew their licenses online to avoid waits and inconveniences created by the closed stations.

Budget issues blamed on closure of local driver's license stations

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—At least two dozen drivers license stations have closed since August of last year because of budget issues, causing drivers to travel farther from home to renew licenses and take driver's exams, officials say.

Warren Strain, Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol spokesman, said evaluations are performed daily to determine what stations will close. He said key factors are staffing and how many licenses are issued at each station.

"We will assess it, and hopefully, we can reopen stations when the economic situation changes," Strain said.

However, it is unclear when the economic problems will be addressed. Earlier this month, legislators ended a regular session without a passing a budget for the fiscal year that starts July 1. Gov. Haley Barbour has said he will call a special session to come up with a budget plan.

MHP is currently operating with $32.2 million from the general fund and state budget. Writers had considered giving the department nearly a million dollars less next year.

MHP officials said last year that shutting down permanent stations would be a last resort, but the closing of the permanent station in Richland last month demonstrates the severity of the closings, officials said.

When Maxine Lack and her husband lived on U.S. 49 in Richland, they were only two miles from the now-closed driver's license station. When the couple needed to renew, they weren't happy about having to drive to the department headquarters in Jackson.

It makes it real inconvenient," said Lack, who now lives in Hopewell in Copiah County. "There were so many people there that we turned around and left. We went to the one on McDowell Road, and it was worse."

Strain said drivers should renew their licenses online to avoid waits and inconveniences created by the closed stations.

PRCC chapel dedication scheduled for April 28

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The dedication of Pearl River Community College's new Malone Chapel on the school's main campus will take place on Thursday, April 28.

The 4,233 square-foot facility, funded entirely with private donations, features a 100 square-foot bell tower that is 45 feet tall. The inside features a bride's room, a sound room, restrooms, a stage area and seating capacity for up to 215 people.

The outside features the Elaine Herring Memorial Prayer Garden. Total cost of the chapel project was $750,000.

"The Pearl River family really came together on this project," said PRCC President William Lewis. "Obviously, raising the money to build the Chapel was the focus of this effort, but the unexpected results that came from the networking of folks who support this institution was a pleasant surprise. Our Pearl River family grew in numbers and strength of commitment from their support of this project."

Dedication activities that day include an open house from 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. The dedication ceremony will be held at 2 p.m., followed by a reception. At 4:30 p.m., the Dedication Concert for the PRCC Voices Ensemble and Pearl River Singers Concert Choir, under the direction of Mark Malone, will be held in the chapel.

The Malone Chapel was designed by Hattiesburg architect Don McCleskey. General contractor was Hanco Corporation of Hattiesburg.

The theme of the Chapel Campaign was "Can You Hear the Chimes Ringing?" Campaign chairman was James Ginn, former executive vice-president of Hancock Bank and a PRCC alumnus. He calls the Chapel Campaign a "great task."

Thanks to a $400,000 donation by Hattiesburg businessman and PRCC alumnus Sidney Malone, and due to the generosity of hundreds of PRCC supporters, the chapel campaign has been an inspiring event.

"I have worked on many projects in my 30-plus years in fund raising and education; however, I have never been involved with a project that has been more inspirational and that can potentially affect so many lives," said Donna Wilson Lee, Director of PRCC's Development Foundation. "Sidney certainly made our goal attainable through his gift in memory of his son, Kelly."

The ARTS plans exhibit today

Members of The Arts, Hancock County Mississippi have put together an exhibit which illustrates the diversity possible in interpretations of the phrase "works on paper."

More than two dozen members of the organization will be sharing those interpretations with the public during an opening reception today, Sunday, April 24. From 2-4 p.m., join the artists for the opening reception at The Wave Gallery, located in Pearl River Community College's Hancock Center, in the old Wal Mart location on Highway 90 in Waveland. Refreshments will be served, and local musicians will be performing as well.

Artists presenting watercolor paintings include Janine Daniels, Judith Mayer, Pam Marshall, Santa Loicano, Anita Gallagher, and Jeri Grémillion. Photographers Mary Anderson and Leslie Lionnet will each be showing their work, and John Boos will be exhibiting his pencil drawings. Local fine art printmakers Dorothy McEmore and Barbara Boos will be showing their block prints, monotypes and drypoint prints, and Franya Ethridge will be presenting an example of blind embossing. Mixed media artists include Elizabeth Schafer and Lori Gordon, and writer Guy Krauss will have a book on display. The exhibit is rounded out by an art book which is collaboration between printmaker Gwen Impson and poet Gail Mollring.

A 50-Year Detective Story

Midshipman William P. Canby fatally wounded during the battles of the Bay of St. Louis and St. Joe Pass

Views From a Front Porch

by Paul Estronza
La Violette

laviolette@mail.data.ywc.com
www.annabellpublishing.com

One of the ghosts of last year's annual Halloween Tour of the Cedar Rest Cemetery was the visiting spirit of a United States Navy Midshipman, William P. Canby. Canby had been reportedly killed in the waters south of Hancock County during the War of 1812.

I was the person who played the visiting spirit. In fact, I was the one who induced the Hancock County Historical Society to invite Midshipman Canby's spirit to make his visit. There was a very personal reason for my doing this: I feel a long-time attachment to Midshipman Canby having discovered his grave in New Orleans in the mid 1950s.

I worked at that time in the large spread of marshes that lay to the south of New Orleans, coming back to the city four out of ten days and living on an old stern-wheeler parked in the marsh during the ten-day work period. It was all extremely new to me then and as I lived on the old stern-wheeler with my Cajun co-workers, many of whom could barely speak English, I developed an interest in the strange regional history.

During my four day off times, I became a visitor to all the old mansions up river as far as Baton Rouge. I began to explore the old New Orleans cemeteries. One cemetery that I visited on a regular basis was St. Louis Cemetery Number 1, the one on Rampart Street behind the French Quarter.

St. Louis Cemetery Number 1 was more run down then than it is now. But at that time, it had an old, but very aggressive, caretaker, who made it safe for me to wander among the cemetery's old crypts and read their half-decipherable inscribed stories. It was there in the cemetery's rear that I discovered a worn stone slab half buried under grass and dirt. I cleaned the soil away and read the inscription. It was Midshipman Canby's grave.

It's still there today, cleaned up, but still difficult to read (I had almost to lie down to decipher the writing). If you visit the grave, you will find it to be a rather large slab, several feet wide and even more in length. The inscription reads,

"SACRED
To the memory of
WILLIAM P. CANBY
Midshipman of the U.S. Navy
Born Norfolk Va.
August 30 1796
Who fell in the unequal contest between the US Gun Boat
Squadron and the British
Flotilla on Lake
Borgne
Near New Orleans
December 14 1814"

My knowledge of the midshipman ended there in discovering his stone in 1956. Despite my efforts to find more about the death of the eighteen-year-old boy, I found nothing. I've moved many miles since then but eventually, in the mid 70s, I found myself living in Waveland within seventy miles from Midshipman Canby's grave. Here, I started hearing bit and pieces of stories relating to a series of naval battles fought in the immediate area in 1814. I began to feel positive that it was in one of these battles that Canby was killed and I began a more active search.

My research disclosed nothing on Canby himself and the information I found on the battles was scattered and very contradictory. The several books on the Battle of New Orleans gave sometimes erroneous, often contradictory information. As recently as last year, a TV special on the War of 1812 showed the incorrect route of the British barges and the site of the battle. One rather well respected book on the New Orleans campaign, stated that all the gunboats had been sunk in the action. I became more and more fascinated with the whole story and dug deeper to find as close to what actually happened as possible. After four years of intensive searching, I felt I had enough information to write an accurate book on the naval battles and I did, publishing it in 2002.

In my preface, I stated, "This is a book about a naval battle that preceded the Chalmette actions. It is about a naval battle that does not follow the usual setting of such actions: large warships yards apart, battering one another with each one's cannons at point blank range, with the falling of spars and immense wooden masts crashing down, and uniformed officers, standing almost remotely on quarter-decks shouting orders.

The ships in this battle are too small to even be called ships in the approved nautical definition of the early 1800s. But don't be put off, there were bloody actions, there were exploding and sinking boats, and there were the cries and screams of desperate, determined men."

It's a good story.

I put a copy of the inscription on Canby's grave in the front of the book as a sort of introduction but said nothing beyond placing it there. Despite my intensive research, I had found nothing further on Canby or his death.

But shortly before Christmas last year, all of this changed.

While searching the Internet in December, I discovered what was purported to be a portrait of a Lt. William P. Canby. The Internet showed only a thumbnail picture. The actual painting was in the Louisiana State Museum in New Orleans.

I was amazed. After fifty years, was I finally able with this vague thumbnail copy to put a face on the boy killed in that long ago battle? I began a series of e-mail and phone conversations with the museum looking for more information and a better copy of the painting. I was lucky, the museum curator was extremely cooperative and provided me with more information as well as a better copy of the painting "Lt. William P. Canby."

The oil painting was indeed of Midshipman Canby (the appellation of Lieutenant was evidently a

Dey, Gollott win state writing awards

Abby Gollott, of Waveland, and Lindsey Dey, of Kiln, were named 2005 State Handwriting Champions in the National Handwriting Contest sponsored by Zaner-Bloser Educational Publishers. Gollott is a 2nd grader and Dey is a 3rd grader. They both attend St. Clare School in Waveland.

Both Gollott and Dey will go on to compete against state winners nationwide for the title of National Champion selected for each grade level, one to eight. A Grand National Champion will be selected from all National Champions.

"News reports consistently tell us how important legible handwriting is to everything from processing mail correctly to reading prescriptions accurately. Despite the influx of high-tech communication devices, every business and every person still depends on pen and paper. We simply want to encourage students to develop good handwriting skills at an early age so that it can help them throughout their lives," said Priscilla Mullins, spokesperson for Zaner-Bloser.

"We are extremely proud of Abby and Lindsey," stated St. Clare School principal Mark Cumella. "Both of these young ladies work diligently to do their best academically," and their efforts have paid off. Handwriting is an important skill they will use throughout their lifetime, and we all stand behind them as they compete nationally for the national championship."

post mortem honorific). The Museum files on the portrait were scanty. They indicate it may have been painted about 1810 by a "Wheeler." Wheeler may well have been the artist, but the date is obviously an error. 1810 puts the portrait to have been painted when Canby was only 14 years old and two years before he joined the military. A more likely date would have been around 1813, or perhaps early 1814.

Further conversations with the curator disclosed another lucky find. In the file that went with the painting was a somewhat faded copy of a newspaper obituary on Canby written in October 1815. This provided more information on Canby's early life, his naval service and finally on the terrible wound that ultimately led to his death months after the battle.

What follows is the entire obituary printed in Niles' Weekly Register, Saturday, October 7, 1815, p. 104. "Died, on the 11th of April last (1815) in New Orleans, William P. Canby, midshipman in the navy of the United States, of a wound received in the action of the 14th December last, between the United States' gun-vessels and the British flotilla, near New Orleans.

"Mr. Canby was born in Norfolk, (Va.) in August, 1796, and originally intended for the profession of the law, but fired with the exploits of our naval heroes, his active spirit, at the dawning of the war, could no longer be confined to the routine of an attorney's office; he burned to emulate the deeds of our hardy sons of Neptune, and obtained an appointment, as midshipman, from Commodore Shaw, then in command of the New Orleans station, where he served on board different vessels, deserving the esteem of his commanding officers and the love of his associates, until the 14th of December, 1814; when, being in gun-vessel No. 23, under the command of lieutenant McKeever, he, in the unequal contest received from a grape shot a wound in the head, which, after a series of the most acute sufferings, closed his existence. In him the navy has to regret the loss of an officer whose rising merit promised one of its most brilliant ornaments, his family an affectionate son, and his friends an estimable companion." Lieutenant McKeever was indeed the commanding officer of "gun-vessel No. 23." It was he aboard Gunboat Number 23 who first spotted the exploratory vessels of Admiral Cochran's fleet and chased them to the British's navy vast anchorage. And it was Lieutenant McKeever, firing Number 23's cannon that was the last captain of the five gunboats to surrender to the overwhelming forces of the British attack barges on that fateful day of 14 December 1814.

Lieutenant McKeever, lay seriously wounded on the deck when he surrendered. Around him were other members of his crew, many also wounded. One of which had suffered a wound which was eventually fatal.

This was Midshipman William P. Canby. This month, April 2005, marks the 190th anniversary of his death.

(More information on Lieutenant McKeever, Gunboat Number 23 and the action that fatally wounded Midshipman William P. Canby can be found in Sink or Be Sunk by Paul Estronza La Violette available for purchase at Hancock County Historical Society Headquarters in the Kate Labrano House in Bay St. Louis.)

NEWSPAPERS DELIVER VOTERS

70% of newspaper subscribers say they will "definitely vote"!

NEWSPAPERS ARE EFFECTIVE

Newspaper readership is highest among the groups most likely to vote...professionals, high income earners, the more educated and ages 35-44. Less than one of every three television viewers say they will "probably vote."

NEWSPAPERS HAVE CREDIBILITY

Newspapers score higher than any other medium in believability surveys.

NEWSPAPERS EDUCATE VOTERS

Newspapers offer in-depth coverage of local events and current issues, not just snippets and sound bites. By using this strength, Political Campaigns can get their message out to readers who tend to be "Centers of Influence" in their communities. This ability to tell the whole story helps voters make informed decisions. If you are running for political office, you need to be "in the paper!"

At convention, Beta members competed in several academic contests and garnered numerous top honors. The group won first place in Preserve Sight Mississippi, a campaign designed to make the public aware of eye safety/care and possible eye disease/injury. Beta Club was also awarded first place in scrapbook competition and campaign booth, second place in public service, and fifth place in campaign skit. Kate Sullivan, Beta Club President, took seventh place in the science category.

Another stellar moment at the State Beta Convention occurred when Hancock High student Stephanie Slaughter was elected to the state vice president office. A member of the Beta Club for three years, Slaughter currently serves as HHS Beta Scrapbook Chairperson.

For this achievement, she will attend a leadership conference in North Carolina during the summer and will work throughout the 2005-2006 school year with Beta at national, state, and local levels. Hancock High School Beta Club, along with club sponsors Kay Lovelace, Palombo and Tammy Ladner, will attend National Convention in June to further their many accomplishments.

Advertising is an investment in the success of your business. Every business has some kind of competition, either within the town, nearby city or from mail order firms. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and buy elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their trading from one store to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your store.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your store. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know the product lines you carry, the quality of your merchandise, the completeness of your service and the character of your store.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you may call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8am to 5pm, or stop by our office at 124 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Receiving God's Strength

Where, or from whom do we receive our strength? The Bible has a clear answer to this question: I can do all things in Him who strengthens me (Philippians 4:12); God is our refuge and strength, an ever-present help in trouble (Psalm 46:1); and, the Lord will give strength to His people; the Lord will bless His people with peace (Psalm 20:11). Tapping into this marvelous resource of God's strength is as natural as life itself, and accepting our human weaknesses and frailties is essential, so that we can become more trusting of our Heavenly Father. Of course, we are expected to always do our very best, and to be a person of love, compassion, and mercy. Also, a good prayer is necessary for a more serene life, and in turn improves our relationship with our Lord. Building our strength and trusting in God does not mean that things will always turn out the way we think they should, or even to our own liking; it simply means accepting God's will for our lives, and believing that our Lord knows what is best for us at all times. And although accepting God's will is not always easy, it is necessary in order to be His followers and to receive His strength and stability in our lives.

*The Lord is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in Him, and I am helped...
K.J.V. Psalm 28:7*

God's rottweiler reigns supreme

It almost sounded like the first Saturday of May at Churchill Downs. The horses were Ratzinger three to one, Arinze one to five, and a number of others which I was too surprised to recognize and remember because I was in a mild state of shock. As far as I am aware, that papal odds making had to be a first in the annals of history.

The college of cardinals' conclave (from the Latin cum clave, or locked with a key) could have turned out to be a real crapshoot, but it simmered to be a foregone conclusion. For only the third time in recent history, the election was accomplished in four ballots.

"You go into the conclave a pope, you come out a cardinal," is an old saying which indicates that pre-conclave hype is usually the kiss of death. But not here. Joseph Cardinal Ratzinger went in a favorite and still came out as pope. Being the front-runner going into the conclave apparently did not harm his chances at all.

There seems to have been a near consensus among the cardinal electors that the vote would be for continuity with the past. This near consensus is evidenced by the notable dispatch of the vote and the fact that the required two-thirds was surpassed by far.

Naturally, the little Bavarian towns of Marktl am Inn, where Joseph was born, and Tittmoning, whither his family first moved, were euphoric on hearing the great news borne on the white smoke of the Vatican. The townspeople's beaming faces flooded the screens of TV news and their unabashed expressions of joy knew no bounds.

By the same token, it is pointed out that many Germans are displeased at the selection of Cardinal Ratzinger as pope, because they claim to have been put off by his extreme conservatism and alienated by his abrasive approach to doctrinal problems.

To no one's amazement, these discontents are mostly people who have been afflicted by the bug of secularism on the one hand and by an attitude of cafeteria Catholicism on the other.

They think it is their right to select what they want to believe and follow from the smorgasbord of doctrines and practices set before them for the choosing.

Anyone such as Pope John Paul II or Pope Benedict XVI, who stands firm in moral teachings such as respect for the life of the unborn and the sanctity of the covenant of marriage, is routinely clobbered by the secular press of both Europe and the United States. Europe's godless press hung the moniker "God's rottweiler" on the new pope.

Somewhat surprisingly, flying in the face of the image of an older man widely known as an archconservative, the crowds in St. Peter Square in Rome were quite young, thirty and under. Not content with just being there, they were obviously taken by the person of Pope Benedict XVI in a similar fashion as they were enamored of Pope John Paul II.

At the opposite end of the spectrum, many of the facial expressions caught on TV news cameras showed puzzlement, uncertainty and disappointment by people in the crowds who gave a lukewarm or no thumbs-up to the unveiling of Pope Benedict XVI, the first German national in almost a millennium to be elected pope.

I must confess that I belong to that latter number disappointed by the selection of the college of cardinals. Nothing personal against the new pope. It's just that I was pulling for a pope from a developing country, reasoning that the Church could use a generous infusion of new blood and fresh grassroots thinking from deprived sections of the world.

Nevertheless, we must remember that Pope Benedict XVI was selected by cardinal electors from all over the world, including a considerable number from developing countries. Those same cardinals have risen to his defense against critics who charge that he is too old, too cold and too divisive to lead the universal Church.

The man who is characterized as "The hard-liner, the enforcer, the hardball conservative" is in reality an excellent theologian who cut his academic teeth as a full professor of fundamental theology at the University of Bonn, four years later at the University of Munster, and three years later at the University of Tübingen.

Scandalized beyond measure by his encounter with radical theology at Tübingen, Father Ratzinger moved back to Bavaria at the University of Regensburg. This explains the hard line he takes against all but orthodox theology.

A change in the face of the shepherd does not signify a change in doctrine or Church practices. No one could reasonably expect radical changes anyway.

It should be noted that a change like the priests' option to marry would not be liberal but reactionary, going back to Paul telling Timothy that a bishop should be married but once. (1 Timothy 3:2)

Those who know him say the new pope is open-minded, listens well and is willing to adjust and try new things, apart from changing orthodox doctrine, of course. Further, he has already said repeatedly that he will reach out to all religions in the name of God, doing all in his power to bridge the chasm of religious bigotry and disunity.

"I feel his hand holding mine. I see his smiling eyes," the new pope assured us in his first Mass as pope, embracing the memory of Pope John Paul II as his spiritual template.

Unshamedly, he pledged to carry on the apostolate of his beloved predecessor.

In any case, we have to give the new pope breathing room, time to come into his own as leader of his flock. Like him or not, his position is somewhat comparable to that of the U.S. president. We have only one at a time, and the well-being of our country/Church depends on how well we enable him to help all of us and one another.

A bit of fizz can be added here, quoting a talk show caller: "We have one more pope to go, and, of course his name will be Peter, for we began with Peter and we will end with Peter. Nostradamus nailed it, just as he nailed the three antichrists: Napoleon, Hitler and Osama Bin Laden. The final resolution could take over 1000 years." Shudder, shudder!

Reflections on Life

Scripture Says

By Ed Young

Many people don't want God in their lives

A sermon on sin is not very popular in most churches today. The people in the pews do not want to hear a sermon that will make them examine themselves. They prefer a message that tells them that God is good, and full of mercy and love. That type of message describes God. It's about God and not about themselves, therefore a search to uncover hidden sin is not necessary.

What's wrong with being a sinner? Most people are. If you ask them, they say, "Don't judge me and mind your own business." Well, if a pastor preaches on sin, he's not judging you, the Word of God is.

What is considered a sin? It is a transgression against the laws of the Almighty God. It's not a popular message, yet it's needed in every church gathering. A man of God knows that. It's his job to help you clean up your act. Sin hates to be uncovered. That's why there is such a rebuttal. Talk to someone about God. Mention Jesus' name. Talk about the Bible and watch how that person will clam up. Why? Because he is afraid his hidden sin will surface. His spiritual deadness will be known.

Some people spend their lives avoiding church, church people, and anything that pertains to God. Why? Because the Bible says a man prefers darkness to Light. Yet, most people who avoid God know there will be a day of accountability. Knowing that, what is their reason to shun their Creator?

It's very simple; they do not want God to interfere in their lives, they do not want Him to run their lives. He is not to troubled them, period.

But this is not what God wants. He loves his creation, and He wants us to choose Him. Yet, He leaves the choice up to us. Will you choose God? Be sure, your sin will be found out.

The Rich Fool

This parable is very familiar to most of us. As material possessions have value, and as we seem to strive for more than we need, we get the point.

Now, I want you to consider this: A very fortunate baby boy was born into a Christian home. He was under the strong influence of both a Christian mother and father. In fact, all of his known relatives were Christians.

From his earliest memory, he was carried to Sunday School and church. He attended Sunbeams, the R. A. meetings, B.Y.P.U., and church prayer meetings. At no time in his memory had he doubted that Christ was his Savior.

At fifteen years of age, he made a public profession of faith and was baptized according to the Baptist belief.

He prayed, and his prayers were answered. He married, and his wife was on like faith with strong Christian connections. Their children were given the same opportunities, and they, too, accepted Christ as their Savior. He prospered, and his love for his wife and children grew. He was secure in the arms of Jesus, not a doubt as to his salvation, not a doubt that he was born again, not a doubt that he had a "paid in full" insurance policy to eternal life with God.

He looked at himself and said, "Why am I concerned with others who do not think as I do. This is a free country. God gives man a choice. He has the same chances as I. The church doors are open, televisions and radios are filled with song and sermon. Let me take my ease in security all the days of my life. Let them find what I have found the best way they can!"

What is wrong with that? It is a selfish attitude. "I'm rich. You have a chance. Make the best of it you can." Possibly the selfish Christian is the worst kind. He takes God's love and his promises, but gives no love to the unknown or the unlovable.

God is love, and love is the only cultivated by sharing, by concern, by action, and by prayer.

Is the rich man with houses full of goods any different from a smug, "got it made" Christian? I doubt it.

Movie:

Father of the Bride Part II

In this comic sequel, Steve Martin re-creates his role as father of the bride, but this time his nutty angst is brought on by his beloved daughter's (Kimberly Williams) announcement that she is pregnant. With thoughts of becoming a grandfather on his mind, he struggles to come to terms with getting older. Diane Keaton and Martin Short also reprise their roles.

Wednesday

8 p.m. and DSC

MythBusters

The duo of Jamie Hyneman and Adam Savage relish challenges to their intellect and craftsmanship — especially Adam, who loves to make things go "boom!" Viewers can only image the horrors that are witnessed in the new episode "Outtakes." But considering the series continues, one can assume all the participants survived relatively intact.

Thursday

7 a.m. on USA

Movie: Casper

Animation and live action are combined in this 1995 family feature starring Christina Ricci, Bill Pullman and Casper the friendly ghost. A fortune hunter (Cathy Moriarty) inherits Casper's crumbling home and sets out to exorcise its ghosts. Enter psychiatrist Dr. Harvey (Pullman) and his lonely teenage daughter (Ricci), who decide that they're on Casper's side after all.

In Focus

The world's waterways are said to hold many mysteries, making them automatic attractions for "Deep Sea Detectives" as host and diver John Chatterton launches a new season of the series Monday, April 25, on The History Channel.

The first new episode, "Loch Ness Great Monster Mystery," plays right into the show's specialty of highlighting vehicles, equipment and cameras used by undersea explorers as they seek the stories behind modern and ancient shipwrecks.

If you think you know Las Vegas, chances are good you haven't seen the city the way it's presented by the star of "The Ron White Show," a new WB Network special airing Thursday, April 28.

It's no coincidence the comedy-variety offering follows an episode of "Blue Collar Comedy," since Ron White is a veteran of the Blue Collar Comedy Tour. Dr. Phil McGraw makes a guest appearance, and one can only wonder how his manner will mesh with that of no-holds-barred comic White.

TV Trivia

Ming-Na ("Mulan") was born in China and moved at age 4 to the United States, where her family opened a restaurant.

B.D. Wong ("Law & Order: Special Victims Unit") won five separate awards for his performance in "M. Butterfly."

George Takei ("Prisoners of the Sun") studied architecture at the University of California before pursuing a theater degree at UCLA.

Harvey Fierstein ("Mrs. Doubtfire") graduated from Pratt Institute and wrote and starred in "Torch Song Trilogy."

Pat Morita ("Coyote Moon") was born in California and was a stand-up comedian, opening for stars such as Ella Fitzgerald.

MLB Baseball

The Atlanta Braves and St. Louis Cardinals, division winners a year ago in the NL East and Central, respectively, begin a three-game series tonight in Atlanta. The fearsome threesome of Albert Pujols, Scott Rolen and Jim Edmonds (a combined 122 HRs and 358 RBIs in 2004) will again be the main cog in the Cards' title defense, while the Braves' hope Andrew Jones — he just turned 28 — can finally take his game to an MVP level to help offset off-season losses to their lineup.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Movie: Spider-Man

The Marvel comic book comes to life in this 2002 adventure starring Tobey Maguire as high-schooler Peter Parker, who is bitten by a radioactive spider and acquires superpowers. But as any Spidey fan knows, the socially inept Parker has a rough time coming to terms with his new abilities, which indirectly cause a family tragedy. Rosemary Harris and Cliff Robertson play Peter's aunt and uncle, with Kirsten Dunst as the girl he loves. James Franco and Willem Dafoe co-star.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation
A horse trainer dies in a bizarre way — apparently trampled by her animal aboard a private jet 30,000 feet above the ground — in "Forever." Grissom and Catherine (William Petersen, Marg Helgenberger) become suspicious of several other passengers, but the crucial evidence could come from the horse after it dies. Warrick and Sara (Gary Dourdan, Jorja Fox) probe a supposed double suicide.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

What I Like About You

Holly's (Amanda Bynes) friends have been telling her she's no fun in the new episode "Pranks a Lot." She decides to prove them wrong by pulling a prank that works a little too well. She has Ben (David de Lau-tour) convinced that he has to marry her to avoid being deported.

8 p.m. on

26-ABC on 13-A

Hope & Faith
Faith (Kelly Ripa) lands a new job doing the weather at a television station, and the temperature rises when she meets newscaster Larry (guest star Dean Cain). Hope (Faith Ford) feels abandoned by her partner in the catering business and hires a new, superefficient assistant. Now it's Faith's turn to feel slighted. Ted McGinley also stars in the new episode "Weather or Not."

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

ing

Fans have only been waiting 10 years for Harm and Cam (David James Elliott, Catherine Bell) to hook up. Will it happen in the series finale? The producers and stars aren't saying, but they've dropped some hints that yes, it might happen — especially in the wake of Cresswell's (David Andrews) surprise announcement last week. Patrick Laborteaux also stars in the new episode "Fair Winds and Following Songs."

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Behaviors

Kyra (Scarlett Pomers) is taking her driving test, and everyone wants to help. Barbra Jean and Van (Melissa Peterman, Steve Howey) offer her some unusual advice. After she passes the test, Barbra Jean insists she sign a safety contract, and Reba (Reba McEntire) presents her with a cell phone, which, unbeknownst to Kyra, has a GPS chip. JoAnna Garcia also stars in the new episode "Driving Miss Kyra."

8:30 p.m. on 38-W/B

Living With Fear

He wants what? While working with Fran (Fran Drescher) on a family album, Riley (Ryan McPartlin) shocks her with a mention of putting pictures of their kids in it someday. Fran, who thought she was done having babies, needs some time to get used to this prospect. Meanwhile, Riley practices his parenting skills on Allison (Misti Traya) and hatches a plan to sell Fran on the idea. Ben Feldman also stars in the new episode "Oh, Baby."

In Focus

"American Idol" host Ryan Seacrest is the current keeper of the flame on a long-running radio program, and he teams with predecessor Casey Kasem on the Fox special "American Top 40 Live" Sunday, April 24. Kasem presided over a television version of the show for a while, and the new two-hour offering is meant to have a similar "countdown" style of current hits. Maroon 5, Ryan Cabrera, Gavin DeGraw, JoJo and Hoobastank are among the artists scheduled to perform there.

Saturday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone
Director Chris Columbus' blockbuster 2001 version of the internationally popular J.K. Rowling story features Daniel Radcliffe as Harry, the young wizard in training. He finds himself the target of an unknown enemy while being schooled in the use of magic at Hogwarts. Rupert Grint and Emma Watson play Harry's young comrades. The expert supporting cast includes Robbie Coltrane, Alan Rickman, Maggie Smith and Richard Harris.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Without a Trace
Vivian (Marianne Jean-Baptiste) is determined to revive the case of a young woman (guest star Amanda Fuller) who vanished four years earlier in "Risen." A surprising fingerprint match convinces Vivian of a new lead that could yield a solution to the disappearance. Kirstie Alley guest stars as the missing girl's mother, and James Eckhouse ("Beverly Hills, 90210") plays the mom's neighbor and brief love interest.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Warin Springs
A U.K. actor playing a U.S. president? Northern Ireland native Kenneth Branagh shines as Franklin D. Roosevelt in this new biopic. As co-star Tim Blake Nelson points out, someone who didn't grow up revering Roosevelt can more easily portray his role. The film chronicles how the politician's future president's experiences at a run-down Georgia mineral spa shaped his personality and political philosophies. Cynthia Nixon also stars.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Miami
A bellman is shot dead at a busy hotel after peeking inside one of the suitcases he'd been ordered to leave outside a room. When Horatio and Alex (David Caruso, Khandi Alexander) take their own look, they find paper—the kind used to print money—which leads them to a convoluted counterfeiting operation. Elsewhere in the hotel, Callie (Emily Procter) investigates the death of a woman after a steamy party in "One Night Stand."

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit
In "Hooked," Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Chris Meloni) investigate the murder of a teenage girl who turns out to have been involved in prostitution and pornography. The fact that she contracted HIV from the latter pursuit leads them to her murderer, but the case is complicated by a second killing—and a second killer.
